The dbx DriveRack PA2 Complete Loudspeaker Management System is a speaker management system that can be controlled by Mac, PC or iOS or Android mobile devices. Using an optional microphone connected to the RTA input, the AutoEQ function can be used to listen to your room and EQ automatically to optimize speaker performance. The AFS (Advanced Feedback Suppression) function is designed to eliminate feedback by preserving the sound of the system. In addition to automated functions, the DriveRack is equipped with dbx compression and limitation, as well as © of a parametric EQ section with eight bands. It also has delays in driver alignment and a cross-over section that supports full-range, 2-way and 3-way systems. You can control the DriveRack PA2 directly by connecting your Mac or PC via the USB port on the back panel, or by connecting the PA2 to a wireless router via the Ethernet port for compatibility with iOS or Android devices. AutoEQ The AutoEQ algorithm is designed to ensure accurate, fast and non-intrusive automatic EQ experience. With an optional microphone connected to the small listening RTA entrance of your room, the DriveRack PA2 AutoEQ algorithm automatically sets the speaker levels and the EQ of the room in seconds. This means that it is now possible to adjust the room quickly, without subjecting the audience to annoying and long pink noise transmissions AFS Feedback Elimination Advanced Feedback Suppression (AFS) algorithm allows a faster and more accurate elimination of feedback, without adversely affecting the tone of the system. DriveRack PA2 listens and previews the feedback and automatically regulates the speaker output before the feedback can start, without ever altering the sound Guided Configuration Functions Guided procedures simplify the initial configuration, while ensuring that the And other settings are always updated. The Wizard functions on the PA2 driver guide you through the STEP-BY-STEP processes to help you get the most out of your loudspeaker system.
